The recommended time for this task is 25 minutes.

MARK

You have received the following email from an English-speaking friend.

Hi dear,

How are you doing? Do you remember this university class project I was telling you about, the one on Jobs that students can do? So, I came up with the idea of comparing job opportunities for university students in different countries, and I think you can give me a hand here.

Could you help me by describing what sorts of jobs university students do in your country? Can you give me as many details as possible about this topic?

Thanks a lot.

Anna

Write a reply to Anna's email. Don't forget to mention:

- The kinds of jobs available for university students in your country
- Problems university students might have when looking for a job
- The best way to find a good student job

"Animals are my friends... and I don't eat my friends."
— George Bernard Shaw

Nowadays more and more people are deciding to stop eating meat and are opting for plant-based food. They claim that it helps the environment and prevents animal suffering. What is your opinion on this topic?

Write an opinion article for this year's issue of the school magazine including the following points:

- The impact of food production on the environment
- The need for a balanced diet
- Your personal view on the topic

OPTION B

Some parents decide to create a mobile phone contract with their pre-teenage children when they buy them their first mobile phone. The purpose of this is to lay out the rules they want their children to follow when using a phone and the consequences they will have to face if the rules are not obeyed. What is your opinion on asking the child to sign a contract and committing to it?

Write a for and against essay in which you mention the following:

- Advantages and disadvantages of signing a cell phone contract.
- If this is a measure that could work for Spanish families.
- Possible alternatives to signing a contract that could help teenagers make a good use of their cell phones.
